

Warehouse Logistics / Inventory at SCIPRIOS GmbH

Warehouse employee (m/f/d) | Fürth, DE

About this role

As a Warehouse Associate, you will be part of a small, autonomous team working in a product-focused manner with dedicated staff. If you are a passionate and collaborative individual looking to showcase your technical skills, this could be the perfect role for you.

Your potential areas of responsibility:

- Provision of required materials and assemblies
- Cleaning and preparation of repair assemblies
- Assembling deliveries and packing ready for shipment
- Checking incoming and outgoing goods
- Storage and retrieval of goods
- Posting of inflows and outflows in the inventory control system
- General warehouse activities
- Support with stock control

Competences and skills

- Analytical skills and motivation to learn new topics.
- Responsible and team-oriented working method.
- Knowledge and experience in one of the areas of responsibility.
- Ideally, completed vocational training as a warehouse specialist (m/f/d), warehouse logistics specialist (m/f/d) or comparable qualification.
- IT is an important working tool in the warehouse. You are familiar with the specific software (MS Office, ERP).

Why SCIPRIOS?

We are a great place to work! SCIPRIOS offers an ideal environment for professional development and growth opportunities. As a young and motivated team with roots in materials research, we can help you improve your technical skills. We offer many benefits such as flexible working hours, a competitive salary, annual Christmas bonus, 30-day holiday, employee events and much more!

Interested?

If you are ready to be part of the revolution in materials science, we want to talk to you! Please send your application with an informal cover letter and your interests and skills to careers@sciprios.de.

